Patrick Richard, MD, of Rocky Mountain Cancer Centers

In recent years, there's been enormous growth in the availability of new treatments for prostate cancer, from newer forms of hormone therapy, immunotherapy and radiation therapy to robotic-assisted prostatectomy.

Urologist Dr. Stephen Siegel and radiation oncologists Drs. Dario Pasalic and Patrick Richard will help you get up to speed on the newest developments in prostate cancer treatment, including the TrueBeam® radiotherapy system with ExacTrac® Dynamic — together they deliver an entire course of radiation treatment in just five short visits.

Only medical campus north of Denver to offer TrueBeam with ExacTrac Dynamic

Reduces an entire course of radiation therapy from 45 visits to just five
